Community Connection Councils Provide Opportunity to Make a Difference.

VANCOUVER ISLAND, BC CANADA - Do you want to help make a difference? Then Coastal Community Credit Union needs you. We are looking for members who are passionate about the South Island and are interested in serving on a Community Connection Council in this area.

Supporting community passion is at the heart of the Credit Union's Community Connection Councils, and Council volunteers share that passion. Most have a long track record of community service, are in touch with local needs and issues and are actively engaged in creating positive change in their communities.

These Councils provide a vital link to the communities the Credit Union serves. "They are our fingers on the pulse," explains Joe Cristiano, Coastal Community's Senior Vice President of Marketing. "They provide us with a deep understanding of local needs and issues, and help us direct funding and resources accordingly."

The role of the Community Connection Council members will be to review and recommend applications to the Coastal Spirit Fund, provide feedback to Coastal Community's management and Board of Directors on local issues, encourage local charities and non-profits to develop funding proposals, and act as an ambassador of the Credit Union in the local community.

So, if you're passionate about your community and you'd like to make a difference, consider serving on a Community Connection Council in our South Island Region (Chemainus, Duncan and Victoria). For more information on how to become a Council volunteer, or to apply, visit www.cccu.ca or drop by any Coastal Community branch.
